FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. MONDAY, April 10. The security market to-day was active and in the main strong, but was irregular and feverish and of a kind to puzzle the average individual as to the advisability of buying stocks. Throughout the day the strength was in certain issues rather than in the market as a whole and the railroad list was sluggish and in some quarters reactionary. The uncertainty of the market was emphasized by a sharp selling movement in the last hour, under which prices seemed to fall very easily, and which left net declines as numerous as advances in the general list. Exceptional strength was displayed from the beginning to the end of the session by Amalgamated Copper, and this stock was, in fact, the day's market leader. Speculative sentiment has recently been very friendly to Amalgamated Copper because the stock has clearly not had its "proportionate advance," as compared with other prominent securities, and because there is no doubt that the value of the Amalgamated Company's property is now considerably greater, owing to the profits of the copper mining industry, naintained for so many months back, than it was when the company's shares were selling at a much higher price than they now do. There is believed to be substantial basis for the rumor that has so long prevailed that in a short time the company will make a satisfactory statement of its financial and business affairs and there is also, no doubt, a possibility that the present company's dividend distribution may be enlarged. This latter contingency however, is one which can by no means be regarded as sure, and it is not believed that any determination has been arrived at Japanese Government Bonds regarding it by the management of the company. A very stimulating influence in the market to-day was also, naturally, a large advance in the price of Northern Securities stock in the outside market, which was accompanied by the rumor that an extra cash dividend might be paid upon the stock before the assets of the company were distributed to the stockholders, as it is now certain that they will be in a short time. The Northern Securities Company is at present, of course, enjoined from paying any dividends whatever, but some method of distributing profits coincident with the dissolution of the company, if it is a fact that there are such additional profits to be distributed, will doubtless be found. The rumor as circulated to-day entirely lacked anything resembling authoritative confirmation. To the rise in Northern Securities was attributed a sharp advance at one time in Union Pacific common stock, although this stock was left at the close of the day but little higher than it was on Saturday. Again, the market was clearly helped by the expectancy that the Government report on the condition of the winter wheat would make a very favorable showing, and this seemed to be made the basis of a rather especial exhibition of strength in the shares of the railroads traversing the Southwestern portion of the country. The Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and New York Central stocks were notably backward. The New York Central shares were indeed positively weak, and the reason for this was perhaps the fact which was not generally known until after the close of business that the Supreme Court of the United States had reversed the judgment of the courts of this State in the famous suits brought by property owners on Park avenue in this city for damages caused by the operation of the New York Central and New York and Harlem railroads, and had held that these property owners were entitled to recover damages-which will amount to a large sum in gross-from the railroad companies. Delaware and Hudson stock made a notable advance and this might very well have been due to investment buying brought about by a carefully study of the company's last annual report. The extremely liberal "charging off " indulged in by the company for > pany are much larger than are openly The foreign markets were hesitant and depressed to-day because of the expected naval battle in the East and London was a seller here of stocks in a small way. The English budget, as presented by the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the House of Commons to-day, made a showing of improved national financial conditions as it was known it would, but a feeling of disappointment was manifested that the English Ministry did not yet see its way to announce a reduction in the present high rate of the income tax. Optimistic anticipation of the Government crop report made the grain markets weak to-day, although the weather reports of the day were distinctly unfavorable, a cold wave following a rain over a goodly portion of the winter wheat belt being threatened. Call money declined to-day a little and sterling exchange maintained its recent advance. One matter that it would seem might very properly engage greater attention on the part of speculators at this time than they have yet paid to it, is the probable effect of the presence in the stock market of the large quantity of Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred shares that will be released upon the dissolution of the Northern Securities Company. Under ordinary circumstances a considerable decline from the ruling high quotations for Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific stocks must be expected, inasmuch as there will be many holders of these shares who will, no doubt, when their stocks are returned to them, desire to convert them into cash. All the "plans" in this regard, however, have not yet been unfolded, and there is no doubt that there will be banking support of the first order for the stocks under any and all circumstances. The Government crop report, when it appeared after 4 o'clock, was perhaps better than had been generally looked for, putting the condition of winter wheat at 91.6 as compared with 75.6 on April last year, and 83.1, the average April condition during the last ten years. This points to a winter wheat crop of about 450,000,000 bushels as against a barvest last year of 333,000,000 bushels.
